Providing our patients with the best possible healthcare is central to everything we do.

That's why we now have a hybrid OR equipped with the ARTIS pheno, a robotic C-arm so versatile, it seems almost human.

With this new technology, we can support faster, more efficient complex interventions—and reduce risk to our patients.

The system offers optimal patient access across case types—from pediatric to bariatric. And, its design can reduce the risk of infection, improving patient safety.

See the difference the ARTIS pheno C-arm can make for our patients.
